The American Dahlia Society announces the 2012 dahlia seedling winners of the Lynn B. Dudley Medal and Evie Gullikson Medal. Dahlia seedling blooms are exhibited and evaluated in the Seedling Bench Section of ADS dahlia shows. Cultivars receiving the highest average scores across the United States and Canada will receive medals. These dahlias will be introduced as new varieties for 2013 with the added designation of being medal winners.

Lynn B. Dudley Medal seedling winners:

Eden Talos, Large, Semi-Cactus, Bronze, hybridized by Lou Paradise in California.

Osceola, Medium, Semi-Cactus, Light Blend, hybridized by Mike Iler in Oregon.

Eden Predator, Small, Formal Decorative, Flame, hybridized by Lou Paradise in California.

Leslie Renee, Miniature, Formal Decorative, Dark Blend, hybridized by Chris Dix in California.

Skipley Lois Jean, BALL, Dark Pink, hybridized by Richard Williams in Washington.

Evie Gullikson Medal seedling winner:

Baron Aunt Dorothy, Collarette, Yellow, hybridized by Ron Miner in Ohio.
